PROPOSED AREAS (Area I and Area II) of dead shell reefs are shown on a map presented to Hancock county supervisors by John Green, vice-president of Potashnick Materials, Inc.

The dredging company has been granted a contract by the Miss. Marine Conservation Commission to dredge the reefs in the Miss. Sound, for an annual royalty in excess of $30,000.

Dead Shell Reef Dredging Explained

by Adoree Shortle
Echo staff writer

John Green, vice-president and general manager of Potashnick Materials, Inc., told county supervisors Wednesday that dredging dead shell reefs in Mississippi Sound waters would be of benefit to coastal communities, rather than a detriment.

Green appeared at a meeting of the board of supervisors to explain details of his company's dredging operations and offer facts of residual benefits to the coastal economy.

Green referred to the controversy arising from publicized news of a contract granted Potashnick to dredge dead shell reefs in a restricted area of the Mississippi Sound. The resultant consensus of objection was based on a fear that such an operation would be injurious to the shrimp industry, marine life and sports fishing.

OPERATION EXPLAINED

Contrary to popular belief, Green said, shells dredged are not those in reefs which fishermen know. Such reefs, or keys, are protected by law from dredging within 1,500 feet, or about five city blocks, he stated.

Dredging will be a good distance from the Pass

Christian tonging reefs, assuring the sanctity of these areas. The Infracoastal Waterway will also be avoided in order to not interfere with coastal navigation.

"The shells we expect to find are buried under two to four feet of mud," he continued, "and therefore not productive. In addition, we use a plow on the dredge rather than a cutter head which is an added safeguard to the shells and water bottoms. Mud brought up by the plow can also be used as a soil and farming aggregate."

The dredges will work in five to 20 feet of water. Shell deposits sought are from 1,000 to 5,000 years old, and are suitable for oyster bank seeding, highway base, construction site preparation and roadways.

Extensive marine biology studies have proven no damage to marine life from shell dredging. In fact, Green stated, experience in Lake Pontchartrain in New Orleans indicates improved fishing in years after shell dredging.

Green was formerly an executive with Jahncke Services in New Orleans and is familiar with shell dredging and commerce.

William Demoran, marine biologist with the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission attended the meeting with Green and explained state conservation laws governing dredging operations, protecting productive reefs. A main stipulation, he said, is that no dredging company may change location of operation without permission from the Conservation Commission. Such action, Demoran said, would make the company subject to prosecution.

CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATIONS

Permit requirements for dredging call for application to the Corps of Engineers and a similar application to the state and federal governments. Both applications are for execution under a lease granted by the Marine Conservation Commission. Although the lease authorizes dredging shell from beneath all the flats within the territorial jurisdiction of the state of Mississippi, except certain restricted areas, Potashnick will conduct operations only within a much

Financing Obtained For Three Industries

by Adoree Shortle
Echo staff writer

Financing for three new industries to be located at the Port and Harbor industrial park has been obtained, Hancock county supervisors were told Wednesday at a meeting.

W. W. Taylor and Jack Palmer, president and vice president, respectively, of Western and Southern Corp., spoke candidly of the obstacles they had encountered in attempting to interest private sources in investing in Hancock county development.

The investment management team said for the past year they had explored numerous sources for financial backing in an effort to promote industrial growth in the county.

Palmer, in describing the negative attitude prevalent toward this county, said: "Your own people in Jackson won't back you, so we've had to go to private sources outside of the state."

Palmer also admonished the new board of supervisors present at the meeting that before any investors would enter into contractual commitments involving long-range plans, they wanted assurance that the new board would be full of good will, with programs. Any vacillation on the part of the new board, he said, would be disastrous to the county's future.

One of the major deterrents to success of the project, Palmer added, was the fact that Hancock county has never had a Standard and Poor rating, nor submitted a Moody Report.

Palmer commended Charles Hill, Port and Harbor director, for his efforts and "untiring cooperation" in the past months to bring financing into the county.

Palmer told supervisors that they had now been assured of necessary financial backing to begin construction of the first three plants in the Port and Harbor complex. Two of the industries, a modular home plant and a plastics extrusion operation, will be situated in the industrial park, adjacent to the levee, water canal and railroad spur. The third, a hydroponics plant, will be located at a Stennis Field.

According to Charles Hill, construction will begin almost immediately on Art Craft Structures, Inc., for the manufacture of modular homes. The plant will occupy a 10-acre site in the industrial park.

The hydroponics plant and the plastics extrusion complex will each occupy five acres in the same area.

Airport Expansion Will Create Export Opportunity

A recent grant of $94,558 from the Economic Development Administration will enable Gulf Central Airport to expand its facilities and possibly become the second airport in the country fully approved to handle cattle exportation.

At the present time, the county airport has one runway, 4500 by 150 feet, and offers private flight service, charter flights and flight instruction. There is no tower but the airport is equipped with a ground-air advisory communications system for incoming and departing aircraft. The present runway can accommodate executive jet planes but not commercial jets. South Central Air Transport (SCAT) flights, initiated in October, provide additional freight and passenger services to all points from the Bay St. Louis area.

Plans for airport expansion became a reality early in December when the EDA grant was approved. The funds will be used to construct a 3800 sq. ft. administration building complete with lobbies, service area, conference-administration office, concession area, customs-immigration and entomologist offices, and laboratories for veterinarians. The plans also include extending the runway to 8500 ft. which will be stressed to support the weight and impact load of DC8-707 type aircraft. A parallel taxiway and turnarounds will be built at each end of the runway and a cargo apron is planned to accommodate loading and unloading of freight and livestock.

Airport officials have planned this expansion with one goal in mind—to have Gulf Central approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for livestock exportation. Early negotiations with cattle exporters in the United States have assured M.G. "Jack" Seuzeneau, aviation administrator, of a healthy traffic in air shipment of cattle to foreign countries. Seuzeneau said that at the present time, the Miami airport is the only one fully approved for the exportation of cattle.

The certifying agency for cattle exportation is the Animal Health Division of USDA. Dr. Orrin Kelsey, chief veterinarian for the division has already made physical inspection of the airport facility and stated that if the airport were built according to USDA specifications, he will grant approval for cattle exportation. "Once this facility is in operation, the airport can be assured of potentially 60,000 head of cattle per year," Seuzeneau said.

Seuzeneau also said that airlifting cattle is much more attractive than moving them by truck. "The law requires that cattle be fed and watered every so many hours when shipping," Seuzeneau explained. "By truck this lengthens the travel time and increases the weight loss of the cattle. Cattle are sold by the pound and this method can cost the breeder money," he stated.

Additional revenues will be gained by incoming freight on returning planes," Seuzeneau concluded, "because frozen shrimp, lobsters, fillet of red snapper, produce, frozen beef, lingerie and electronics components will be brought through this airport for distribution."

When There's A Fire . . .

Bay St. Louis chief of police Robert Gooden has asked citizens to observe the following rules concerning city fires:

- (1) Do not crowd around the scene of a fire—this could be hazardous to the onlookers and may prevent firemen from extinguishing the fire quickly.
- (2) DO NOT call the station when the fire alarm sounds. Several people calling to find out where the fire is jams the phone lines making it difficult for firemen to call in for information on the location of the fire.

MASS SCHEDULE

The following mass schedule has been announced by Father Pierre of Annunciation Church in Kiln:

Friday: Annunciation - 8 p.m.; Infant of Prague - 6 p.m.
Saturday: Annunciation - 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.; Infant of Prague - 10:30 a.m. and 8 p.m.
St. Joseph in Paxton - 9:30 a.m.

Sunday masses remain the same.

TAX DEPARTMENT

During January, the Bay St. Louis tax department will be open from 8 a.m. to noon every Saturday but will close at noon on Wednesday.

Sand Fill Approved For Building Site

County supervisors approved a resolution Wednesday submitted by the Port and Harbor Commission to move 250 cubic yards of sand fill immediately on the site of the commission's new office building.

The emergency measure became necessary after the lapse of a 15-day period for removing the metal building from Coast Electric Co.

OATH MONDAY

The oath of offices will be administered to the newly elected county officials for the years 1972-76 by Judge Dan M. Russell, Jr. on Monday, January 3, at 9 a.m. in the courtroom.

NIGHT CLASSES

Pearl River Junior College has announced that anyone interested in taking night classes at PRC the second semester should be at the meeting Thursday, January 8 at 8:30 p.m. in the Science Building on campus.

An original bid advertisement let by the Port and Harbor called for 250 cu. yds. of sand fill and 500 cu. yds. of top soil to fill and level the building site. This bid opening will be held Friday night at the Port and Harbor offices.

The commission acted under an emergency provision by state law which dispenses with the necessity of public advertising for the purchase of any items under $750.

One Man Shot During Argument

A 35-year-old Bay St. Louis man is being held in Hancock County jail and another man hospitalized in Biloxi from a shooting incident occurring Christmas day.

According to Bay St. Louis police, R. T. James, a carpenter who resides on Washington St., was arrested and charged with assault and battery with a deadly weapon following a scuffle with Jason Tillman, during which Tillman received a gunshot wound in the abdomen. Tillman, 48, was taken to Hancock General Hospital and later transferred to Veterans' Administration Hospital in Biloxi, where his condition is listed as satisfactory.

City assistant police chief

Douglas Williams said that according to a statement from James, both men were visiting a mutual friend and neighbor of James' Christmas day. When James left the friend's house to go to his automobile parked in his yard, Tillman followed him and according to James, an argument developed. James had a .38 calibre pistol in his hand and when Tillman allegedly struck him, the two men began wrestling for possession of the pistol. During the scuffle, the pistol discharged, striking Tillman in the abdomen.

Tillman, a former Bay St. Louis native, had been living in New Orleans for some months and had returned to the Bay for the holidays.

THE OLD AND THE NEW . . . the last of the three front buildings at St. Stanislaus is coming down making way for the recently completed administration-classroom building.

Demolition is expected to be completed within the next month. (Echo Staff Photo by Marleen Maher)

MR. AND MRS. ELMER PARKER JR.

Parker-Ladner Vows Exchanged

Miss Cathy Marie Ladner, daughter of Mrs. Irene Ladner of Pass Christian, Miss., and Emmett J. Ladner Sr. of Houston, Texas, became the bride of Elmer Henry Parker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Sr. of Pass Christian, at a Nuptial Mass at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of December 19 in Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church, Pineville, Miss.

Reverend William Voller, Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Dadeville, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with baskets of white gladioli, mums and candles, flanked by potted palms.

Mrs. Paula Fay Necaise, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Peggy Owens of Laurel, Miss., who sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "For All We Know."

Given in marriage by her brother, John Ladner, the bride wore a gown of Italian silk over mist peau designed with a lifted bodice closed with tiny covered buttons and re-embroidered with Peau De Ange lace etched with seed pearls. A silk yoke formed the high closed neckline of scalloped lace and the long tapering sleeves ended with a lace flounce re-embroidered with pearls. The silhouette lines of the gown were enhanced with a hemline bordered with scalloped Peau De Ange lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. A panel of Italian silk, accented with scrolls of lace and pearls drifted from the back of the bodice into a cathedral train.

Her full cloud veil of silk illusion flowed from a Camelot of Peau De Ange lace encrusted with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and babies breath centered with an orchid.

The bride chose her cousin, Miss Judy Ladner of Pass Christian as her maid of honor and Mrs. Bill Van Alstyne, Gulfport, sister of the groom, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Helen Bufkin, Lucedale, Miss., and Miss Jan Ladner, Pass Christian, cousin of the bride. Miss Janyia Dennis, Pensacola, Florida, and Scott Jefferson, Ocean Springs, cousins of the bride, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

Paul Reddock of Pass Christian served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Terry Helms, Gulfport, George Mixon and Courtney Hanson, both of Pass Christian.

Assisting the couple in receiving at the reception at Ronald Brown Memorial Hall were their parents and the wedding party.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to New Orleans the couple will be at home at 111 Mable St. Apartment 1, Hattiesburg, Miss.

The bride, is a senior, majoring in Elementary Education at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Mr. Parker a Junior at Southern, is majoring in Accounting.

May the anxious hopes and wishes of all peoples of the world for peace become a lasting reality. Let us live in harmony for a better environment for all to enjoy.

Trumpets In The Morning

by Perry D. Neal, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis.

Look at the following thought provoking statements:

"I have a friend - God."

"Love is habit forming."

"The reason people are alone is that they build walls not bridges."

"You know He gave me you,
and He gave you me, and best of all,

He gave me light that I might see."

The philosophy expressed above is from thinking young people. What do you think of them? Have you ever stopped to think of the importance of readiness. Luke 12: 32-41 is helpful reading for us today.

Jesus counseled his disciples to give themselves completely
to the work of the Kingdom, assuring them that it was their Father's intention to give it to them. He told them to sell their goods and lay up "a treasure in the heavens that faileth not",

where purses don't wear out and thieves can't come near.
They were to be like men watching and waiting for their Lord to return from a wedding feast; no matter how late, they were to be there when he knocked and he would reward them. He emphasized the importance of readiness; if a man knew when a burglar was coming, he would not allow his house to be broken into. That's how it will be when Christ
returns; He will be unexpected by most. Are you going to be ready? NOW is a very good time to get READY - HAPPY
NEW YEAR - LET CHRIST BE YOUR MASTER - STRAIGHT AHEAD.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling
City-County Library Writer

Thousands of years ago all of the Gulf Coast territory was sparsely inhabited by the ancestors of the Indians; they left little trace of their habitations except for the mounds that dot
the landscape and the artifacts buried in them. In modern times other Indian tribes pushed into the territory and scuffled among themselves for land; among them were the Chickasaws and the Choctaws, both of them branches of the Immense Algonquin Nation
which occupied the mountains to the east. Both of these tribes settled in the rich land in what are now the States of Alabama and Mississippi principally in the northern and central parts.

Later, north-central Mississippi became the center of the Choctaw nation, with its main council house located near Ponchatoc, near what, by that time, was known as the Natchez Trace. Their villages were scattered all over the northern Mississippi country; and the names of many of these villages were adopted by the white settlers when their villages
were established on the old Indian sites. Many of the names were "doubled"; much as we combine simple words such as Sugarfield or Rosehaven, and the Indian names which sound so odd to us today were simply descriptive. Bogie or bok meant creek, and chitto was the Indian word for big, so that Bokchitto was merely Big Creek. Houma was red and Okla meant people, hence Oklahoma.
Falaya was long, hacha meant river, mingo was a chief.
Seneasha Creek means "sycamores are there". Some of the combined names are a bit more complicated: panki takali meant hanging grapes and was converted to Pontotoc. Kombi lki is Choctaw for box maker,
and after many different names in the Gulf Coast area

are very rare in comparison with the many scattered throughout Hinds, Copiah, and other central and northern counties of the State. Even the first county seat of Jackson county, established in what was then the heart of Indian country, was given the commonplace English name of Centerville. None of the coastal cities and towns, with the single exception of Biloxi, shows any link with the language of the Indians.

Each Child is Different When He Has A Body Chemistry Defect

by Neil A. M. Bulst, M.D., Ch.B.
Associate Professor
of Pediatrics and Director
March of Dimes Metabolic Clinic, University of Oregon Medical School

GROWING AGAIN. Dr. Neil Bulst, head of the March of Dimes clinic for metabolic disease in Portland, Ore., congratulates Tonya Fronti, 10.

The body's chemical processes fit together in an intricate pattern. If one crucial step is off, the whole well-being of the human involved is often tragically affected.

This is what happens with a metabolic disorder. The body's chemistry has been distorted. Such disorders are called "inborn errors of metabolism" because they are inherited.

Inborn errors can be all the more dangerous than the birth defect that puts a child
on crutches, since children with metabolic defects often look perfectly normal. The damage only starts to occur
after birth, when they don't have access to their mother's blood through the placenta.

Some of these disorders
cause severe bodily or brain damage within a few weeks of birth. Others are more subtle and may lie hidden (or latent) for months and sometimes for many years. In such cases, disorders that are undiagnosed get no treatment or the wrong treatment.

Lack of hormone

That is the reason for the
March of Dimes Metabolic Clinic at the University of Oregon Medical School here in Portland. We must find the children who have these inborn birth defects of body chemistry and see that they get the hospital care and follow-up they need.

It is becoming increasingly possible to correct this kind of error. One of our patients, Tonya Fronti, produces a low level of human growth hormone (HGH) in her pituitary gland. She is 10, but she is tiny and looks much younger. The lack of this hormone has also been the cause of the hypoglycemia that has sporadically thrown her into severe convulsions since she was three days old.

HGH is rare because it must be extracted from human pituitaries. The HGH
from about 2,000 human pituitary glands would be needed to help her grow to normal size. But regular injections of the chemical have brought an end to her convulsions and she is now growing very well
on it.

Buying time

The other side of this treatment coin is to deny the body any substance that results in damage. For three-year-old Robert Cecil, this means a special diet.

Robert was born with a birth defect of his kidneys.
These were so underdeveloped that they were only five per cent as efficient as normal kidneys. The metabolic derangements caused by the kidney failure were so severe that two years ago the boy was near death because he could not eliminate his waste products. With a diet that restricts his intake of proteins, we have been able to reduce the amount of waste products that his kidneys
must process.

This diet is keeping him
alive and postponing the time
when he must face a transplant. In the time we are buying, he will grow stronger and kidney transplant techniques will be improved. Then we may be able to give him a healthy kidney by transplant.

Tips On Car Care

The "Smell" Of Car Trouble

Start the engine and hold your nose. Or maybe pious fumes seep in while the car is in motion. If your auto has a malfunctioning pollution control valve, here's one instance where pollution is really hurting both breath and budget.

Nicknamed the Pollution Control Valve, PCV actually stands for the positive
crankcase ventilation system,
according to Fram
Corporation engineers.

Crankcase gases are a combination of unburned
fuel, water and gases escaping around the piston rings into the crankcase. Mechanics call it "blow-by", but no matter what it's called it has to be removed from the engine or it will corrode piston pins,
timing chains and other parts of the engine exposed to these corrosive fumes. Your car probably has one of these crankcase ventilation systems.

The original crankcase ventilating method simply vented blow-by gases into the atmosphere. As of 1963
(earlier in California) it became mandatory for new cars to have what is called the

PCV system whereby all crankcase gases recirculate
through the engine by becoming part of the air-fuel mixture. But at high speeds, fumes could reverse through the oil-filler tube into the atmosphere.

The "closed" systems used since 1965 are so designed that crankcase gases can only escape through the air cleaner back into the carburetor. But,
these fumes can contaminate
the lubricating oil quicker, resulting in a poorer running engine. This new system is 100% effective in keeping crankcase gases from polluting the atmosphere.
But, Fram engineers remind us, how effective it is in not polluting your engine is up to you. You have to remember to change them every 12,000 miles.

When a carman hooks a tapoon, it leaps into the air with furious twists of its great body. A tremendous fight usually follows.

Winter mornings are busy mornings for mothers. Dad, the kids and maybe mom, too, are off in different directions and to work. But the importance of a hearty, well-balanced breakfast shouldn't be overlooked on even the busiest mornings. Breakfast should supply 1/4 to 1/3 of the nutrients (including calories) that the body needs daily to function properly.

Now even on those hurry-scurry mornings you can serve your family one of their favorites - French toast - with a minimum of fuss and fuss. Aunt Jerima Frozen French Toast, now available in supermarkets all across the nation, is convenient and homemade good because it's made like homemade.

Enriched bread slices are dipped into a batter of fresh whole eggs and fresh whole milk. The bread is specially formulated and baked to keep it moist and tender. Each slice is baked on both sides on a griddle 'til it's that familiar, tempting golden brown.

The convenience of this wholesome new food product is unmatched. All you do is heat it in the toaster or oven - so easy any member of the family can prepare it so quick, it fits into the busiest schedule. When busy mornings loom ahead for you, remember new frozen French toast for breakfast.

Social Security Information

January, February, and March could be an important period for many in the Hancock County area according to Gwendolyn L. Dunlap,
representative of the Gulfport
social security office.

The first three months of the year are known as the General Enrollment Period for the Medical Insurance Plan (Part B) of Medicare. Those that failed to enroll for the Medical Insurance when they become 65, or later dropped it and wish to re-enroll, must do so in the General Enrollment Period if it was stated by Mrs. Dunlap.

It was also emphasized that there is a three year limitation for those wishing to enroll, or enroll a second time. An individual that failed to sign for Medical Insurance when they were first eligible at age 65
must enroll within three years of their initial enrollment period. If a person has dropped his Medical Insurance and wishes to re-enroll, then he must do so within three years of the date his first enrollment period ended.

Mrs. Dunlap advised anyone wanting more information about enrolling for Medicare should contact his social security office right away by calling 864-2022. If you prefer, you may contact Mrs. Dunlap at the Agriculture Building, Nechaie Avenue, Bay St. Louis every 2nd and 4th Thursday of the month, from 9:30 A.M. until 12:00 noon.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Classroom Copycat

Scene: a college classroom. The professor is delivering a lecture on philosophy. Most of his listeners are paying only intermittent attention to his pearls of wisdom.

But one alert young man is zealously taking down every word. For he has a great idea. He will gather the lectures together, publish them in book form, and then sell them to students who are less energetic than he is.

Could the professor block the young man's project if he so desired? This question arose not long ago when a professor actually did go to court against a classroom copycat. He claimed that publication of the lectures would violate his "common law copyright."

The defendant retorted that the professor had lost the copyright by uttering his words in public, thereby making them "free for all."

But the court sided with the professor and granted him an injunction. The court pointed out that he had spoken not to the general public, for general use, but to a limited group for limited use.

Other courts have agreed that a professor does not lose his common law copyright merely by delivering lectures to his students. By the same token, a minister probably retains rights in his sermons after delivering them to his congregation.

However, a copyright generally protects only the mode of expression, not the information itself. For example:

A professor of medicine complained in court that a new book contained certain details about surgery that he had described in his lectures.

But it turned out that the book did not use the professor's language at all—and used his data only in combination with material taken from other sources.

The court decided that the professor had no grounds for complaint. The court said he could not, simply by stating facts out loud, gain a monopoly on those facts for himself.

"I HEARD THAT!" beams Daniel Nixon of West Palm Beach, Fla. The sunny, alert 16-month-old lad was born with hearing loss and heart damage because his mother was infected with rubella (German measles) early in her pregnancy. But Danny is getting expert care at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami. The voluntary health agency works with health departments and medical societies on rubella vaccination programs to stop this source of birth defects.

TRIM YOUR WAISTLINE
Paris ready-to-wear boutiques strongly push the pants and suede jeans have good looking additions of flowered braids up the side seams and around the waistband. A great new look for pants, and so easy to do yourself.

TRIM TRICKERY
As in Paris shops, the most popular London boutiques are featuring lots of exciting uses of trim, which any creative home sewer could duplicate in no time at all. Ribbons and braids are used all over the little-girl look, smocked blouses and dresses. These trim tricks make every garment look like an original.

TRIM TRENDS
The native American look will be seen in Indian wood styles for many trimmings including body belts. Body belts of all kinds will be used more, especially shiny styles in metal and pearls. Rhinestone belts, buckles and buttons will add a lot of glitter.

NO WINNERS
Don't gamble in traffic—your life is at stake as well as those of many others.

RIGHT ANGLE
The first requisite in solving any problem is self-confidence and clear thinking.

DOUBLE-TAKE
The golden rule is something half the people think the other half should observe.

Where you save does make a difference.

smaller area. An immediate benefit from the operation is a royalty paid by the company to the Marine Conservation Comm., a portion of which will finance Gulf States Marine Fisheries Comm. Minimum payments to the Conservation Comm. will amount to $50,000 annually. With active dredging production, royalty payments will increase substantially, Green said.

ECONOMY BOOST

According to Demoran, part of the Marine Comm.'s new meager income is derived from the sale of dredged shells, while another portion is required for oyster reef rehabilitation. Added income from Potashnick's operation, he stated, would be of value to the commission in furthering its work in the conservation of marine life, including commercial and sports fishing. Potashnick will undertake a research program for further development of uses for dead reef shells in addition to known utilization.

Green further stated that in recent months, 475,000 worth of shells have been used in road construction in Mississippi, all brought in from neighboring states, which there fore received the profits. Potashnick's operations, he said, could afford a similar boost to the economy of Hancock and Harrison counties.

Additionally, back-up shore operations will be of economic importance to the communities, he affirmed, calling for local purchases of fuel, oil, and equipment, maintenance and operations materials and other logistical support services.

The intent, he said, is to establish a base of operation in a central location on the coast. "We now have an office in Gulfport and will have another in Bay St. Louis, with personnel and equipment storage," Green said. The company will employ at least 50 persons at the start, with an added as operations get underway. Skilled labor is not required by the company, and preference will be given to the under-employed and under-educated from the surrounding area.

Man Arrested

For Trespassing

A Bay St. Louis man is being held without bond in Hancock County Jail on 12 counts of trespassing in Bay St. Louis residences.

William T. Waite, 22, was arrested by Bay police chief Robert Goodsell when Waite broke into a residence at 309 Boardman Ave. Tuesday night. Under interrogation by Goodsell, Waite allegedly admitted to 11 incidents of breaking and entering residences in the Cedar Point area of the city, all committed in the past few weeks.

The incidents had been under investigation by city police, Goodsell said, as they followed a pattern indicating the same person or persons committing the acts. Although no articles were reported stolen from the 11 homes, Goodsell said that in every case food had been cooked and consumed in the kitchens, and acts of minor vandalism committed. Waite gave his address simply Julia St.

GIFT WRAPPING AND BRIDES

When a gift is something special, the wrapping should be just as special. Choose wrapping materials to fit the occasion and the recipient.

Experiment with materials other than standard gift wrapping paper and ribbon (such as crepe paper, nylon net, foil, copper wire, and large sequins), or give conventional materials a new twist. With a little ingenuity, the results can be dramatic and interesting.

Small tuck-in gifts, such as measuring spoons tied with a bow, are fun for showers. One gift becomes two if it's given in a reusable hatbox, covered with fabric or wallpaper. No wrapping necessary — just a pretty bow.

There were a number of automobile accidents reported during the Christmas weekend in which several persons were taken to Hancock General Hospital for injuries.

Bay police assisted Highway Patrol officers with three automobile accidents which occurred at the intersection of Highway 90 and Dunbar Ave. Dec. 24, 25 and 26 two of which resulted in injuries to passengers of cars involved.

Christmas day, R.J. Carver lost control of the car he was driving on Washington St. and ran into a ditch. Carver was taken to Hancock General Hospital for treatment.

On Christmas eve, a two-car accident resulted in injuries to Mrs. H. A. Goodwin when the automobile she was driving was struck in the rear by another car. Driver of the other vehicle was not identified by police.

Wednesday morning a tractor trailer attempting to make a right turn from the left lane at the intersection of S. Touline and Main Streets, damaged the side of an automobile driven by Mrs. Larry Ladner. The driver of the truck was cited by police.

Bay police are investigating three reports of breaking and entering of private residences occurring during the past week.

A complaint was received Tuesday from Harvey Peltier, Jr. of New Orleans that his home at 751 N. Second St. had been broken into and burglarized. Peltier told police that a television set and stereo record player had been stolen, as well as other items.

Goodsell Issues

Warning About Mini-Bikes

Bay St. Louis police chief Robert Goodsell has issued a warning to the public concerning the operation of mini-bikes.

Goodsell said state and municipal laws governing the operation of mini-bikes is the same as those for any other motor driven vehicle. Rules require helmets, driver's license, an inspection sticker and a tag.

Since the legal age for securing a driver's license is 15, Goodsell said any juvenile under the age of 15 found riding a mini-bike on public streets is subject to police action and ticketing. Mini-bikes are forbidden on sidewalks.

Half the holidays are over. Christmas has passed and a lot of fishermen and hunters have tried out their new fishing and hunting gifts they received. Naturally they are a happy bunch. Both fishing and hunting has improved. Speckles have been caught along the railroad and Hi-way bridges and with no more rain they should be up Jordan River before long.

Both quail and dove hunting is getting better right along. Have had some good reports of both being killed. The seasons go practically into February so there is still time for some good shooting when colder weather reaches this section of the country. Still haven't heard much from squirrel and rabbit hunters. Been too hot up to now. Ducks and geese haven't come down as in former years.

The Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission today stated that shortstopping of Gulf Coast blue and snow geese in the mid-western states has further intensified this year.

Empty skies over large tracts of coastal marshlands in South Louisiana prompted the commission to carry out an aerial inspection of federal and state refuges in the Missouri River Valley December 1 through December 3.

It was observed that approximately 400,000 blue and snow geese were still in the snow-blanketed region at that late date. The figure, representing nearly one-half of the Gulf Coast wintering population of blues and snows, constitutes a 20 to 25 percent increase over last year.

During the same months in 1970 the shortstopping practice was rampant. The attention of the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and it was stated that appropriate measures would be taken to alleviate the shortstopping. Despite this, shortstopping of blue and snow geese, has further intensified this year.

The commission concluded that "history is about to repeat itself." Records indicate that Canada geese by the hundreds of thousands once migrated to the Louisiana marshes, but due to extensive shortstopping in the mid-west the geese have long since ceased their annual flights to the Gulf Coast areas. However there will be geese killed in the Louisiana marshes. We have quite a few geese hunters in our midst who will go after them when the time is ripe. Ducks are beginning to be more plentiful, from reports.

Among those making some nice catches of speckles last week were Kenneth A. Brett and his brother, Sherol from Waynesboro, Miss. They said they were inexperienced when it comes to catching speckles but they showed us local boys a thing or two. We think they are mostly fresh water fishermen.

Was amazing to see the amount of flounders at Ladner's Fish Market last week. The fish were all of about the same size, 2 1/2 pounds and better. The men at the market were a busy bunch, scaling, gutting and packing the fish. The were caught by fish boats.

John Ladner said he was too busy packing the flounders to go fishing himself. One of his friends said John is the croaker catcher of the week.

We always learn things. Hamilton (Brother) Morel is a real fisherman but is now dredging for oysters. Brother told us he always uses the water from oysters to make oyster soup. It gives the soup a much better flavor.

Eugene Massey and his wife are ardent fishermen. They caught some mighty big drum and other fish lately. Eugene admits his wife is better than he when it comes to catching fish.

Was interesting to watch Snookum Morel opening oysters. Snookum is only 79 and going strong. He has fished the greater part of his life. Loved it, he said.

Was a pleasure meeting Ray H. Willis—a newcomer to our midst. Ray is retired from the marines. He expects to fish and play golf from now on. Plenty of it around here, feller.

According to Nolan Ladner and Ray Wehre they have been tearing up speckle trout lately. Both are ardent fishermen and go on every occasion. They also do a lot of fly fishing when things are right. Nolan had his son Nicky with him during the holidays.

Jim George says he is going back to fishing when the water clears up. Jim is a smart fellow.

Charlie Poolson and son Blackie, a father and son combination, both say they can't enjoy fishing because they are too busy fixing outboard and other boat motors so that other fishermen can go. Charlie said he is going to take off one day and do some fishing regardless.

Raymond Strong and Johnny Favre reported they caught their share of speckles out along the Railroad bridge last Wednesday. Raymond and Johnny know how and where to get them. Both come from families connected with fishing for years.

One of the best things that has happened to those who like to fish is a reality. The road out to the end of the American Legion Pier has been put in first class condition. Best of all a fishing wharf has been erected by a combination outfit, the City of Bay St. Louis, Uptown Operation and the local Jaycees. The wharf is open to the public, free of charge. Parking of cars will be on the land adjacent to the beach.

Fishing at the pier, as us old timers knew it, Blatze's wharf, has been good for years. Now it is only necessary to bring your tackle and fish to your heart's content. Fish mostly caught at this spot are speckle trout, red fish, flounders, ground mullets, croakers, et. Crabbing is usually good at the right time. A launching ramp has been built for those having speed hulls, skiffs and aluminum boats. A real need has been fulfilled.

August Rauxet, Nicky Rauxet and friends made a duck hunt out to the marshes over the past week end. Haven't gotten final results.

Did you know that there is no closed season on Beavers. The Beaver is classed as a predatory animal. Been in Hancock County 40 years and

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK
HOLLIS DAVIES, better known to his friends as "King Fish Davies" enjoys fishing and playing golf. His next sport is entertaining his friends. Hollis lives in Waveland.

have never seen a Beaver.

Even though the seasons on Marsh Hens, Rails, Gallinules and snipe are open we have seen very few up to now. Again we think the weather has something to do with it. Colder weather is needed.

PARTY-WHIRL
IN NEW YORK:
74 CONSULATE
U.N. OFFICES

In Manhattan's diplomatic circles there are 74 consululate offices and dozens of United Nations missions.
Hundreds of officials celebrate the holiday season in many typical as well as national ways that reflect the traditions of their homelands.

Though New York is famous as a city of great warmth and hospitality during the Christmas season,
these little foreign centers
give a special variegated
glow of their own.

son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene A.

Nursery Pupils Give Christmas Program

Nursery pupils at St. Clare's school, Waveland, led parents and friends on a "Trip to Santa Land" Thursday night
December 16, in Costello Hall.
The poetry recitation and musical number were presented under the direction of Mrs. Corinne Bontemps, nursery teacher as part of the preschoolers' annual Christmas program.

Also on Thursday night's program was a presentation in rhyme and song by Mrs. Anne Shippey's kindergarten class entitled "Mother Goose in Santa Land." Various characters including Little Jack Horner,
Jack and Jill and Old Mother Hubbard appeared to tell their well-known tales with a holiday touch.

Though the program
traditionally is presented by the pre-school age classes, several students from elementary and junior high classes performed.

Third-grader Anne Schott recited a religious poem and Jeff Hansell, 6th grade, Donna Peterman, 7th grade, and Felice Mollere, 8th grade, read

St. Luke's Biblical account of the First Christmas.
The audience participated in singing songs of the season before and during the performance.

New View For Cruising

Abhh, Cruising. Beautiful sunsets, romantic deckside conversations, gourmet food at the captain's table, sunbathing at sea, your favorite television program, enchanting vistas of your favorite television program?

That's right, and hard as it is to believe, television at sea is one of the primary attractions of the newer cruise ships. It seems that the American traveling public refuses to give up the magic box, even for a voyage on the high seas. So, the cruise lines are letting people take it with them. The Royal Viking Star, for example, a new cruise ship to 1970s can choose from a cocktail in the sky bar, a nap in a dock chair or a bonfire.

Killer Kite

"Kite weather" sent eight-year-old Jimmy into an open field to try his luck. Using a thin copper wire for a string, he soon had his box kite scudding into the sky.

Then, tragedy. Jimmy's kite crossed a high-tension power line and deadly voltage crackled downward, killing him instantly.

Could the power company be held legally liable by the boy's family? In a court hearing, they blamed his death on the fact that the high-tension line had not been insulated.

However, the court held the company not responsible. The judge said Jimmy's use of copper wire instead of an ordinary string was too unusual to have been foreseen and guarded against.

Courts generally agree that power companies cannot be expected to take precautions against freak accidents. Nevertheless, since electricity is such a dangerous product, they do carry a higher-than-average burden of responsibility.

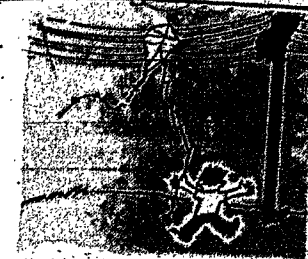

In another case, a boy's kite snagged on a power pole. When he climbed the pole to retrieve his kite, he touched an uninsulated line and suffered a bad burn.

This time, three factors weighed against the company:

- 1) that the pole was right next to a playground;
- 2) that it had low steps, easy for children to climb; and
- 3) that no DANGER signs had been posted.

A court duly awarded damages to the injured boy, saying that the company could fairly have foreseen this kind of an accident.

And tree climbing is even more foreseeable than pole climbing. Thus: A boy got a shock from an uninsulated wire that passed through the upper branches of a tree in front of his house.

Sued later for damages, the power company pointed out that there was nothing in the tree—no snagged kite, no frightened kitten, no tempting fruit—that would justify the boy's venture into the treetop.

But the court held the company liable anyhow, for misjudging human nature.

"The immemorial habit of small boys to climb trees," said the court, "is a habit which corporations stretching their wires over such trees must take notice of."

What are Happy New Years made of?

"MY MOST UNFORGETTABLE memory of Christmas," a friend explained, was the fragrance of an orange in my Christmas stocking! In those days, he owned, the only time he saw an orange was at Christmas. He didn't remember eating the fruit, just that pungent sweetness. Ever since, the smell of an orange brings back to him the splendors of Christmas.

AND SO IT seems to have been through his life, as truly happy a man as you've ever known. He wasn't born with a silver spoon in his mouth, nor has his life been a bed of roses.

THIS MAN, a successful engineer, doesn't live in the past. But along the way he has gathered and stored more happy memories than most - the swish of breaking waves, the friendly wag of a dog's tail, the eerie honk of geese in the night - these and many other happy moments he remembers and cherishes.

THINGS, such as most of us are concerned with acquiring, he has. But they are not the source of his happiness. His thoughts, friends, love, faith, and an affection for humanity - these are his precious things.

"I WANT to be happy," you've heard it sung so many times at New Year's-gathering, perhaps last evening. Only most of us don't know what happiness is made of.

SO in our search we need New Year's as a time for correcting our course, to fill our sails with better intentions, and hope to fetch the port of Happiness. Or we could follow the tack of our friend who has made it!

MRS. KEITH PEEVY

Miss Dorothy Rausch Weds Keith Peevy

Miss Dorothy Nell Rausch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter William Rausch of Bay St. Louis, became the bride Sunday afternoon, December 19, of Keith Jackson Peevy, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson Peevy of Baton Rouge, La., at Christ Episcopal Church. The Reverend Charles R. Johnson and Rev. Jimmy Albritton officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Fern trees, white poinsettias and branched candelabra of soft votive candlelight decorated the church and vases of white roses and candelabra adorned the altar.

Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, organist, accompanied Mrs. Mike Meeks who sang "We've Only Just Begun," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of white Sata Peau fashioned on an empire silhouette featuring a cameo neck, bishop sleeves and controlled bouffant skirt. A Chantilly lace pinafore traced with bias ruffles was worn over the gown. Her veil of imported illusion fell from a matching capulet embroidered with tiny pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and tiny white flowers.

Miss Ripple Rausch of Meridian, Miss., attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Sally Porter and Ann Perkins, both of Bay St. Louis; Claudia Henagan, DeQuincey, La.; Becky White, Mer Rouge, La.; Mrs. Mark Romero and Mrs. Ted Sandifer, Baton Rouge, La. The bridesmaids wore old fashioned Southern Bell floor length gowns of ice pink Sata Peau with sweetheart necklines, sheer bishop sleeves and controlled bouffant skirts with bias ruffles. Their shoulder length headpieces were fashioned of ice pink satin and tulle. They carried bouquets of white poinsettias with a forest green background.

Dr. Peevy was his son's best man and groomsmen were Douglas Vickers, Baton Rouge; Ronnie Taylor, Monroe, La.; Dennis Peevy, brother of the groom; Joe Clooney, both of Baton Rouge; Stanley Smith, Shreveport and Jim May, Baton Rouge. Doug Wingate, Detroit, Michigan and Wade Newell, Baton Rouge, served as ushers.

Arrangements of white snapdragons, Bells of Ireland and white candles decorated the reception room at the home of the bride for the reception.

following the ceremony. The bride's table, overlaid with a white linen hand embroidered heirloom cloth, was centered with a five-tiered cake decorated with ice pink sugar bells and roses. The cake was decorated with the valley decorated the top tier. Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Porter, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hamilton, Mrs. Charles Smith and Misses June and Sue Porter assisted in receiving guests.

Mrs. Charles Day and Mrs. Dennis Peevy presided at the cake table and Miss Lucy Rausch, cousin of the bride, kept the guest register.

Mrs. James Wingate and Mrs. Jerry Newell, sisters of the groom, cut the groom's cake. Mrs. Harvey Magee, Miss Nancy McDonald and Miss Mary Shattuck were at the punch bowls.

Misses Kathleen, Eileen and Sue Day, Yvette and Merritte Peevy, Mona Newell, Anne and Kristen Wingate and Janet

Hamilton served as tea girls. Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. D. L. Ashman presided in the gift room.

Mrs. Rausch received their guests wearing a candlelight lace dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

The mother of the groom chose a sky blue dress styled with a quilted skirt, winter white accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the couple will make their home in Shreveport, La.

The bride, a graduate of Bay St. Louis High School, is a senior at Louisiana State University. She is a member of Phi Mu Sorority.

The groom is a graduate of Central High, Baton Rouge, La., and Louisiana State University. He is presently attending L.S.U. Medical School, Shreveport, and is a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honorary Scholastic Fraternity.

HOW CAN YOU MAKE A BETTER CUP OF COFFEE?

First, buy bean coffee...not pre-ground coffee.
At A&P we sell bean coffee.
The coffee bean is nature's seal that holds the flavor.
Once that seal is broken by grinding, flavor fades...
NO MATTER HOW IT'S PACKAGED!
The shorter the time between grinding the beans and brewing your coffee, the greater the flavor.

Second, have the beans ground to fit your coffee maker.
At A&P we custom grind the beans in a choice of seven different grinds...not one or two.
If you're using pre-ground coffee, switch.
This week, have an A&P bean coffee custom-ground to fit your coffee maker.
You'll make a better cup of coffee.

Questions on Your Family's Move...

answered by Alice Bowman Home Moving Consultant

Dear Miss Bowman: How does a family move affect a child's behavior and performance in school? — Mrs. J. B. Houston, Tex.

ANSWER: Dr. E. Kuhn Belter, Professor of Psychology at Temple University, Philadelphia, reporting on a study he conducted, said: "There are no significant differences in school performance and achievement among children who moved often and families who stayed in one place." Another noted, Dr. Austin des Lauriers, of the University of Missouri, said moving can actually be a positive influence on the child's development because introduction of new and stimulating experiences helps a child attain maturity.

Dear Miss Bowman: That first night meal in the new house is going to be a disaster, what with all my kitchen things still packed in boxes. What will make it easier? — Mrs. E. D. C. Park Ridge, Ill.

ANSWER: Plan a "first-night box." Set aside a carton for paper plates, plastic cups and tableware, napkins, and a nice meal of canned foods. Add a box of cookies, pick up some fresh fruit, and above all, include the can opener!

Dear Miss Bowman: I know some research has been done on the effects of moving on children, but how about the wife? She's the one who bears the brunt of the adjustment to the new location. — Mrs. A. J. R. Fort Worth, N. J.

ANSWER: Right, she's the member of the family who has to see to it that the many big and little facets of relocating. To find out more about her reaction to a move, Indiana University and Allied Van Lines will sponsor, next spring, a symposium on the psychological effects of relocation on the wife and mother. I'll have available summaries of the symposium's findings for anyone who wants them shortly after its conclusion.

Landry-Webre Vows Exchanged

Main Street First Baptist Church was the setting December 18 for the wedding of Miss Virginia Ann Webre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Webre of Bay St. Louis, and Joseph Darrell Landry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Landry of Bayou La Batre, Alabama.

Baskets of poinsettia and holly and candelabra entwined with poinsettia and holly adorned the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Perry D. Neal, pastor.

The couple chose as their attendants Mrs. Jerry Ross of Washington, D. C., sister of the bride, as maid of honor; another sister, Miss Kathy Webre, Bay St. Louis, Miss. Sybil Davis, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. Karen Rhodes, Gautier, Miss.; and Miss Pamela Lolecano, Bay St. Louis, as bridesmaids.

Rusty Windham, Jackson, was best man; groomsmen and ushers were Joey D'Angelo, Jackson; Mike Craft, Gulfport; Kenny Tommers, Hattiesburg; Jerry Ross, Washington, D. C.; and Tommy Davis, Hattiesburg.

The bridesmaids wore red velvet floor length dresses and carried bouquets of red mums and holly.

The newlyweds and guests were entertained after the ceremony at a reception in the American Legion Home reception hall on Green Meadow Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Landry took a wedding trip through Georgia, Florida and Tennessee. Their new residence will be in White Castle, La.

OUR PHARMACIES HAVE A RICH HISTORY

The science of pharmacy is at least as ancient as the prescriptions found on a 3,300 year old sheet of papyrus reed, but like its sister science medicine, pharmacy wasn't always practiced scientifically in the beginning.

Ancient Egyptian pharmacists included spells and incantations among their malady-easing assets. Considering all the ambitious challenges an Egyptian apothecary was willing to take on—from fastening loose teeth to making hair grow on a bald cranium—he needed all the magical help he could get. While the ingredients of many of his prescriptions would chill a modern pharmacist's blood, some were quite sound. One papyrus prescription dating from Moses' time lists a remedy still in wide use today—castor oil.

Druggists continued to mix madness with sound remedies until modern times. Tenth-century Arab apothecaries coated their pills with gold or silver for eye appeal, but the contents of the pills were often dictated by advanced study of chemistry, physiology, botany and mathematics.

In early European textbooks on pharmacy, remedies containing the eye of a toad or the ear of a newt often appeared alongside still-useful ingredients like cascara or digitalis. Many medicines were deliberately rendered unpleasant to the palate by addition of nasty-tasting or evil-smelling ingredients. On the

Robert was born with defective kidneys that were only five per cent efficient. Two years ago the boy was near death. Since then he has been on a special diet and watched closely for biochemical disturbances at the March of Dimes Metabolic Clinic, University of Oregon Medical School, Portland. Someday, Dr. Buiat hopes, Robert will be a promising candidate for a kidney transplant. Birth defects strike some 250,000 babies yearly.

Attending the ceremony were the maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Clark, paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wells Sr. of Waynesboro, Miss., and a maternal aunt, Miss Anne Clark of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Quinlan and daughter Sue of Baton Rouge spent Christmas holidays with her mother Mrs. Muriel K. Morlan.
